This is in regards to the NAB petition 04-160.

If a subscription service content provider wishes to provide its subscribers with content they desire, they should not be limited in that ability.

The satellite radio signals are not public domain. They require subscription. If a magazine to which I subscribe, or the weather Channel on my cable TV system wishes to provide me local coverage beyond what it is I could receive over the local newspaper or television choices, it is my choice to obtain my information that way.

Please do not limit XM and Sirius satellite radio's ability to provide content to their users. This is a petty petition that will do long term injury to these subscription services.
